CUPNOODLES MUSEUM

OSAKA IKEDA

THE BIRTHPLACE OF INSTANT NOODLES OSAKA IKEDA

On August 25, 1958, Momofuku Ando invented the world's first instant noodles, Chicken Ramen, after undertaking repeated research using ordinary tools in a little shed he had built in his backyard in Ikeda-shi, Osaka. Realizing the need to transcend cultural boundaries to popularize instant noodles worldwide, Momofuku gathered an array of wisdom and innovative ideas to invent CUPNOODLES, transforming “made in Japan” instant noodles into a global food.

The CUPNOODLES MUSEUM delivers a message to visitors on the importance of inventiveness and discovery by introducing the history of instant noodles, a new food culture.

!!! The Father of Instant Noodles

Momofuku Ando (1910-2007)

Momofuku Ando was born on March 5, 1910. He established Nissin Food Products and founded the Ando Foundation.

In 1958 Momofuku invented Chicken Ramen, the world's first instant noodles, creating the instant noodle industry. In 1971, he invented CUPNOODLES, the world's first instant noodles served in a cup. While serving as president and chairman of Nissin Food Products, Momofuku contributed to building the instant noodle industry as chairman of the Japan Instant Food Industry Association and as chairman of the World Instant Noodles Association. Dedicated to the healthy education of young people, in 1983, he used funds from his personal fortune to establish the Ando Foundation.

!!! Create Food to Serve Society

Momofuku Ando dedicated his entire life to thinking about food in new and creative ways. Throughout his 96 years, he practiced creative thinking and never quit until he achieved his goal.

First Invention: Chicken Ramen (1958)

In a little shed behind his home in the town of Ikeda, Osaka Prefecture, Momofuku started work on an invention for quickly making ramen at home by just adding hot water. He worked alone, sleeping only four hours a night and without a day off for an entire year. Chicken Ramen, the product of many trial and error experiments, was dubbed "magic ramen" and became an instant popular sensation.

Second Invention: CUPNOODLES (1971)

On a fact finding trip to America, Momofuku observes supermarket buyers breaking up Chicken Ramen noodles, putting them in a cup, pouring in hot water, and then eating them with a fork. It was then that Momofuku realized that moving past conceptions about how we eat was the key to making instant noodles a global food. By bringing together all sorts of wisdom and innovative ideas, CUPNOODLES transformed "made in Japan" instant noodles into a global food.

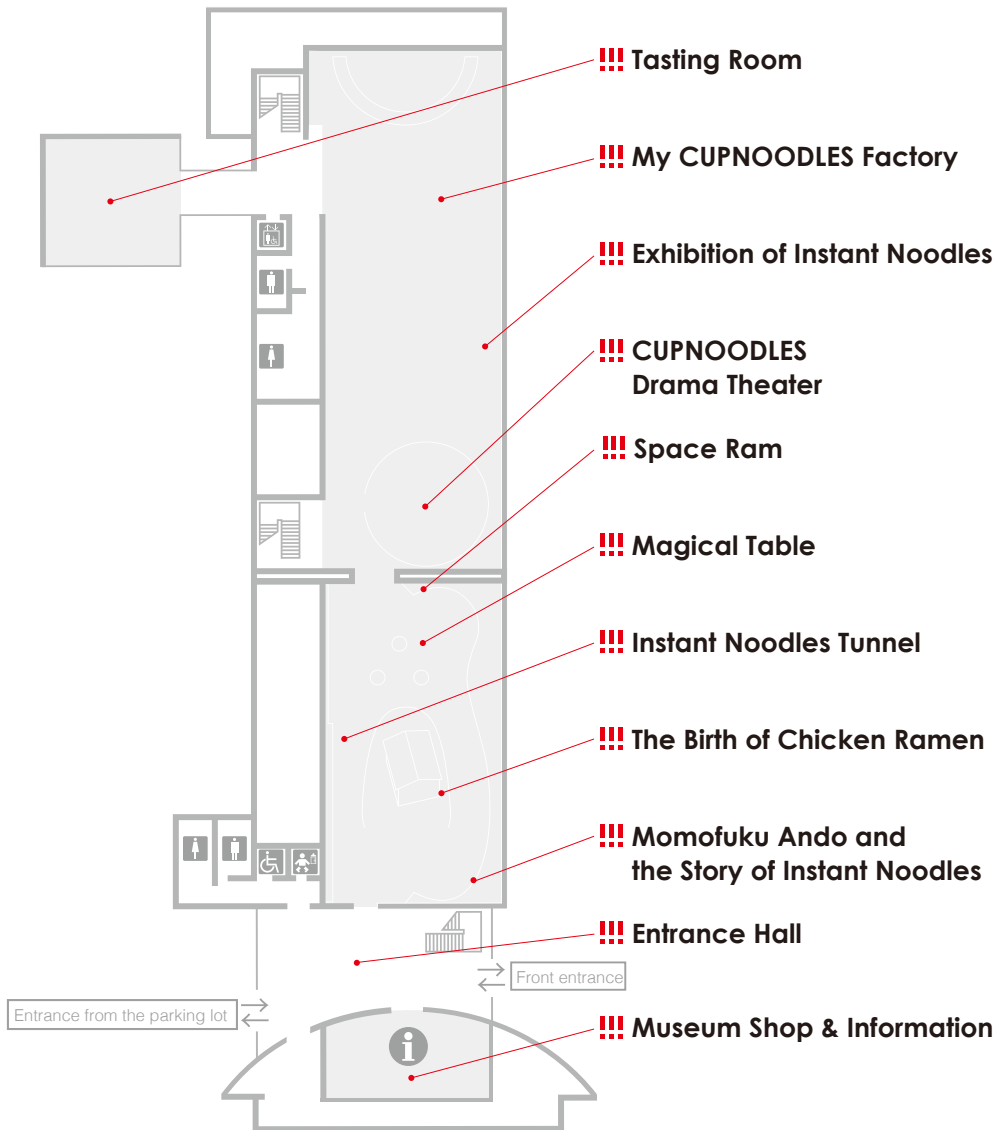

Third Invention: Space Ram (2005)

Pursuing his long held dream to invent instant noodles that can be eaten in space, Momofuku started work on Space Ram. Along with applying various techniques for eating in zero gravity, Space Ram is based on the flash-frying method that Momofuku invented in 1958. With Space Ram, Momofuku's creative thinking transcended the earth to contribute to creating food that people can eat even in space.

ANDO FOUNDATION

<http://www.ando-zaidan.jp>

Convinced that promoting sports is essential to nurturing physically and mentally healthy young people, Momofuku Ando founded the Ando Foundation in 1983 with funds from his personal fortune. Based on the principle that health rests on a dual foundation of food and sports, the Foundation carries out non-profit activities in four areas: supporting track and field events, nature activities, and dietary culture activities, and operating the CUPNOODLES MUSEUMS in Ikeda City, Osaka and Minatomirai, Yokohama.

1. Track and field events

Endorsing the belief of the Japan Association of Athletics Federations that running is where all sports begin, the Foundation has supported the National Amateur Track and Field Championships for Elementary School Children since 1985 and the National Cross Country Relay for Elementary School Children since 1999. These athletic events not only promote physical fitness in children, they have produced many Olympic and international class athletes and play an important role in broadening the base of Japan's track and field athletics.

2. Nature activities

Momofuku Ando believed that contact with nature enriches a child's imagination, so the Foundation has promoted outdoor activities aimed at stimulating the creative and self-sustaining abilities of children since it was established. Since 2002, in accordance with the recommended after-school education guidelines of the Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology, the Foundation has held the Tom Sawyer School Idea Contest, which supports and awards prizes for noteworthy nature activities of schools and groups around Japan. In addition, the Momofuku Ando Center, which opened in Komoro-shi, Nagano Prefecture in 2010, popularizes outdoor activities through human resource development to promote nature activities for children.

3. Dietary culture activities

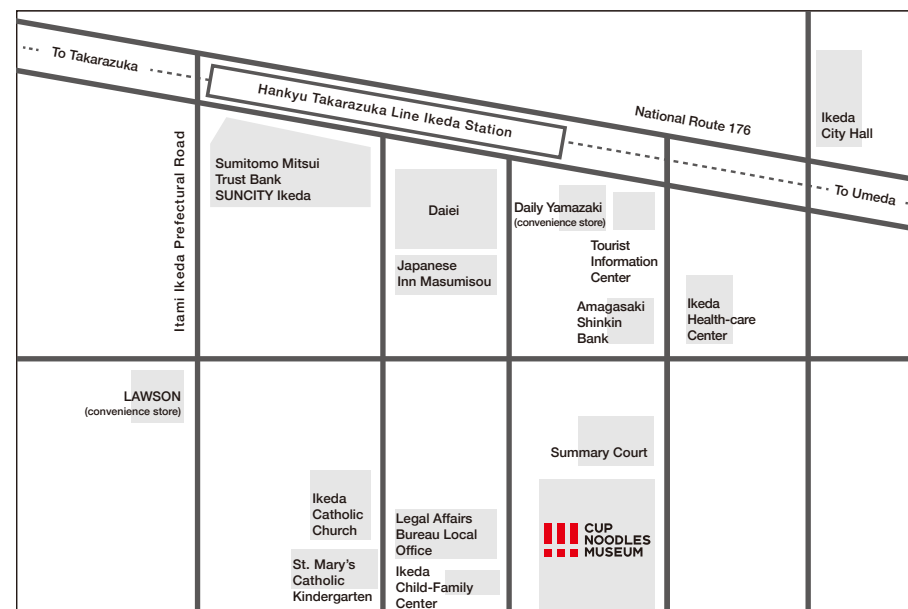

Founded in 1996 based on Ando's philosophy of "Create foods to serve society," Shokusokai supports independent fundamental research and food product development and venture businesses related to the creation of new food products. Every year Shokusokai awards Momofuku Ando Prizes in recognition of outstanding people who do research and development and form new business ventures in the field of food products.

4. Operation of the CUPNOODLES MUSEUMS

An interactive food education museum, the Momofuku Ando Instant Ramen Museum (popularly known as the CUPNOODLES MUSEUM) opened in Ikeda-shi, Osaka Prefecture, the birthplace of instant noodles, in 1999 and in Minatomirai, Yokohama in 2011. The museums teach the beliefs and way of thinking of Momofuku Ando, who brought about a revolution in worldwide food culture. They also introduce the importance of invention and discovery and the spirit of creative thinking through the history of instant noodles.
